Introducing SHIELD
Exceptional Managed Email Security

powered by IRONSCALES™

Triple Threat Protection, Co-Managed by Fortress Security Risk Management 24x7x365

The cybersecurity landscape has witnessed a startling surge in malicious phishing emails, with a 1,265% increase since the launch of ChatGPT. With attackers launching billions of sophisticated phishing campaigns every single day, security teams are overwhelmed trying to keep up. Legacy email security technologies like Secure Email Gateways (SEGs) were designed for the era of on-prem email environments and simply can't handle the volume and variations of advanced email threats in today's cloud first world.
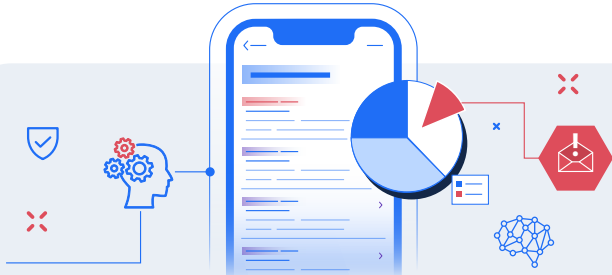

The Solution

Fortress SRM offers co-managed email security expertise alongside IRONSCALES. IRONSCALES is a self-learning, AI-driven email security platform that continuously detects and remediates advanced threats like BEC, ATO, and more, in milliseconds. Additionally, IRONSCALES provides employees with integrated email alert banners, report buttons, personalized phishing simulation testing and security awareness training. Fortress will provide around the clock support to ensure your organization fully optimizes and benefits from this security platform's features.

What makes the IRONSCALES + Fortress SRM Solution Different?

IRONSCALES combines the power of humans + machines to defend against phishing attacks by integrating both phishing protection and security awareness training into one single offering. Powerful AI/ML driven detection and response, crowdsourced threat intel from across IRONSCALES' entire customer base, and dynamic email alert banners all come together in one single powerful solution, supported 24x7x365 by Fortress SRM's U.S. Based Security Operations Center.

For organizations employing Microsoft Defender, combining it with IRONSCALES creates a stronger defense against evolving email threats, especially those that evade traditional security measures, by forming a more robust shield for your organization's communication channels.
